Fire Escape Plans

These are just a few of the scenarios you need to discuss with your family. It's too late for planning once a fire happens.

You cannot come up with the best solutions in the middle of a fire situation.

At your workplace your employer is required by legislation to have a fire evacuation plan, provide you with training and conduct an annual evacuation practice.

Have you got this process in place for your family at home?
If not, why not?

Start by having a discussion with your family:

- What will we do in the case of a fire?

 - How will we escape?

 - What will we do if the front door is blocked by fire and smoke?

 - Are the doors dead bolted?

 - Where are the keys for the doors in the house?

 - How will we see if the electricity is cut and it suddenly becomes dark?

 - Where is our meeting point when we escape?
